Many of our consumer/owners want to show their appreciation to GEUS' field employees. GEUS asks that the public follow social distancing procedures when interacting with employees. For your protection and to protect our critical employees share a wave instead of a handshake!

"GEUS continues to take steps to both protect the public and also ensure the availability of uniquely skilled employees required to provide essential services to our community," said GEUS General Manager Alicia Price.

WAVE-DON'T SHAKE

Instead, greet each other with a nod or a wave. The virus can be passed from one person to another by shaking hands and then touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

GEUS became the first municipally-owned electric utility in Texas in 1891. 110 years later it became the first municipally-owned cable television and high speed Internet operation in Texas. GEUS offers these services to the 26,000 plus consumer\owners living in the Greenville, Texas area located approximately 50 miles East of Dallas, Texas. GEUS is uniquely governed by an autonomous board of trustees that is appointed by the Greenville City Council. Steps were taken by the Texas Legislature in 1989 to allow this type of governing structure.
